Our Agent at Cumberland Gap. Lieutenant A. J. Harrington, Company A, Twenty-second Kentucky Volunteers, is agent for the Louisville Democrat.

The President has at last said out right that he would not arm negroes in this contest. He had said enough before to Abolitionists. His treatment of Cameron was sufficient to show his position on that subject, and his late order authorizing the army to use negroes that fell into his hands for manual labor, was a plain prohibition of their use for any other purpose. The the residents was a Mr. Woodburn, native leading Abolitionists understood it, and of Madison, Ind, who, by accident, became denounced the President accordingly; but possessed of a plantation on the Mississippi those who do up the dirty work for party river. He gave his parole, and was perstill lied on, comforting the brethren with the assurance that negroes were to be armed. The inevitable Jim Lane was to raise a regiment of black, or white and black. All a lie, and they knew it. They intended Cincinnati, Monday night, this Woodburn to embarrass the President by telling a lie; took passage about ten miles below Madthey might be more indignant if the President did not give way to their schemes; that their outburst of wrath might scare agating their lies.

Now, that the President has said not only how the negroes may be used, but how they may not, there is no room for lying. They the braying of asses. will pour out their maledictions on Lincoln. The question is, will he or they carry the free States? He need not try to conciliate them, for they are chronic malignants, and will not forgive him. We implore the Government to support the officers that are just la their acverity, but generous to the people South generally. The assumption that men are guitty and deserve punishment, because they have been swept along in this rebellion, is unjust and barbarous. What right has a Government to punish a man for disloyalty when that Government has not been able to protect a man in his loyalty? Pnuishment in such cases is unjust and cruel in the eyes of God and man, and its fruits will be bitter and disastrous. Natural justice men are quick to feel; injustice can only do

This information was at hrst discredited, but contrabands continued to come in terribly aiarmed, telling corrob orating stories, which forced us to heed We resorted to certain means to obtaln the requisite knowledge. The information obtained by our own resources only confirmed the statements of the others in two pieces of artillery.

Accordingly, we prepared for the crisis.
Capt. Patterson, whose gunboat, Chocura, always ready and on the watch, lay in the river between this and Gioucester Point, took up a position so as to rake the approaches to the fort. Thus prepared, he waited watchfully for their advent. About dark a contraband, whom Capt. Patterson had employed to watch the movements of the enemy, came down to the beach, jumped into his boat and rowed to the side of the Chocura, and reported the rebels within range of her guns. How North Carolinians Feel [From the Newbern (N. C.) Progress,]

A young friend of ours, a real Yankee who was and is determined to take the earliest opportunity and first chance for spec has just returned from a three days camble, during which time he has traveled circuit of over one hundred miles through the State, openly proclaiming himself a Yan kee and a Union man, in search of rosin, turpentine, etc., in which he has been ominent-ly successful, and found all the old farm-ers, almost without a single exception, strongly ln favor of the oid Union, praying for an early restoration of peace One little significant circumstance is reported to have occurred the other day, which is worth mentioning. One of our "videttes," while scouting through the woods a trifle in advance of our lines, suddenly rode smack into a picket of the enemy. It was composed of twelve men, who were all setting round a fire, eating their dinner. They halted him, and asked him if he knew no better than to ride inside of an enemy's lines in that man-ner. He apologized for the intrusion, and said that had he been aware of their being there, he would have held himself, at a respectful distance. They said to him, "Well, you had better mount your nag and ride to our own lines; we don't want to shoot you -we're North Carolinians."

TAXES AND TARIFFS .- Already the commer cial and mercantile community are cyphering out the probable and possible effects of the new taxes and tariffs on their various interests. Manufacturers will soon be obliged to add the amount of their taxes to the cost of their fabrics, and the new tariffs will increase the cost of imported goods. Green & Green are happy to announce that they have a very large stock of well assorted hats, caps and straw goods, bought before the application of the new duties, and for cash. They will not be obliged to raise prices.

CHICANDS CRUCES BOATH

(Special Dispatch to the Cincinnati Gazette.) The President's Negro Policy.

WASHINGTON, Aug. T. Certain prominent western gentlemen waited on the President to-day to tender him two negre regiments from the West, the organization of which could be completed and they ready to take the field within ten days. The interview was protracted and the discussion covered the whole ground of arming the negrees with all its possibilities for good and evil. The President finally closed by announcing that he had made up his mind not to accept at present the service of armed negroes. He would use them as teamsters, cooks, la borers on entrenchments and in every enpacity save fighting. He declared that to accept regiments of armed negroes would be to lose forty thousand white soldiers now in the ormy, and would derive some of the border States out of the Union. He had deliberately made up his mind to this policy, and would adhere to it, unless totally new circumstances require the change. This announcement causes the utmost astonishment among Western men. who had supposed Jim Lane's project fully authorized by the President himself. His determination upsets that whole scheme, and will also work decided revolutions in plans elsewhere: It is believed that the President cannot now consistently allow Hunter to go on with his colored regiments in South Carolina, and will troops in numerous other quarters. We presume the abolition liars will now stop their continuous fabrications in reference to Jim Lane, &c., and that Gen. Hunter will be recalled.

WHO RETAKES CORINTH .- It is said that it is part of the strategic policy of the Confederates to assign to General Bragg the duty of re-opening from Corinth southward, the Mobile & Ohio Railroad, and taking Corinth, and it is whispered officially that he has been about his task, feeling along our lines to ascertain our position and strength; and that ere long we may expect an attack from him.

To those who are inclined to feel humiliated at the idea of our army having to act on the defensive, it may be a comfort to know that at this point we are prepared to fight in that style to good advantage; that we can gain a greater victory, and eripple the enemy more by remaining here than by running to the ends of the earth after them. Let the over-zealous remember that we have already penetrated far into the Southern Confederacy, and that there is much to do in possessing the ground now occupied, and making it secure before making further advances. It was freely admitted, before Corinth and Memphis fell, that our army would not push further South after those events until, perhaps, autumn or winter. Corinth is to be held. There is or winter and in the planning or executhe reception and storage of supplies are approaching completion; rolling stock is being supplied to the railroads, and everything betokens a determination to hole Corinth. The General who retakes it will get himself a name. -- Corinth Letter.

FIENDISH OUTRAGE.-On Sunday night, 28th uit, a most fiendish outrage was per petrated in Gibson county. On that night, bout 9½ o'clock, two men called at residence of a Mrs. Humphries and inquired for a Mrs. Woods and a Miss Blackard (who were staying temporarily with Mrs. H., saying that Mr. Woods and Mr. Biackard (who are in the army), had arrived at Mr. Recruiting for the old regiments, as well w.'s home that evening very sick, and deas the new, has received great impetus durto them immediately. Mrs. Woods was ex-pecting her husband home, yet the action of these men, who could not be induced to come into the house, and who she did not recognize, caused her to hesitate about going; but finally the desire to meet her husband overcame her fears, and she concluded to New Velves Carpetas go. Not having any horses of their own, Mrs. W. and Miss B. got up behind these fiends on their horses. They started off, and after getting out of hearing from any house, they turned into the woods, where, by threatening the lives of the ladies with drawn knives, and by using force they sncceeded in violating their persons; after which, they left them to find their way home. The ladies were bruised and choked in a most brutal manner. The villians thus far have escaped arrest. Death should be the penalty for such a crime.

REBEL HUNTERS .- Wm. Reaney, the cele brated detector and scout, has begun an or-ganization under the name of Robel Hunters, whose business it will be to scour the State of Kentucky, and learn and break up the operations of secession sympathizers, and stop their recruiting for the rebel sermca. The Republican says the story is a pure fiction. dred men, and will serve as a constant pro-tection to Cincinnatl and the borders of Kentucky, Indiana and Ohio; besides put ting a quietus npon such fellows as Mor-gan, if he ever ventnres his neck so near the halter again, as he did a few weeks days ago.—Cin. norday at 4 P. M. The following river items we clip from an ex change:

John D. Hodges, pilot of the rebel ram Arkansas was killed during the run to Vicksburg. He lived in St. Louis diffeen or twenty years, and was a St. Louis and New Orisans pilot. His mother, wife and three children are down South, and doubtless had the melancholy satisfaction of performing the last duties. At the same time another of the pilots on the Arkansas was killed. We refer to Olimbure, well known as a Louisville and New Orleans pilot, James Brady, a St. Louis and New Orleans, pilot, was also on board, but it said to have escaped newounded.

was also on board, but is said to have escaped nu-wounded.

Mr. William Hamilton, steamboat engineer, and an old citizen of St. Louis, arrived there hast week from the Seuth. He went from St. Louis to Memphis after the blockade. Having the reputation of being an in-telligent engineer, he was soon employed. It is said he gained the applicate of his employers by putting up and in working condition, in a workmanlike manner, the machinery of the Arkaness. He has been engineer of the Falls City, Mortayon and Edward J. Gay. His nephew, William Roe, its engineer on the Eam Arkaness.

The New Albany Ledger of yesterday evening we nuderstand that Capt. J. B. Eussell, of New Albany, has resputly purchased the steamer Chancel-lor; $10,000 cash was the price paid. A. F. BOCKWELL; A. D. C. Citizens of Kentucky! I am again raising men for the war. The country, through its Chief Magistrate, tells us 300,000 more patriots are required to crush the rebellion, and reinangurate peace and happiness throughout our land. Will the people of Kentucky-the brave and chivalric people of Kentncky-be behind when men in other States are rushing to arms in vindication of the only free govwhen the insolent foe invade your State, desolate your hearthstones, and lay waste your fields? Will you sit quietly down, with folded hands, and invite your brethren of neighboring States to quit the plaw, the work-shop, and the counting-room, to come here to protect you and fight your battles? The time was when your sires flew to arms to punish the ruthless savage, who laid waste the homes of your friends north of the Chic. Are you to be branded as deenerate sons of those noble sires, or will ou cower beneath the rule of a bandit foe and succumb to his most unholy jurisdiction? Men of Kentucky, your country needs your strong arms to maintain her supremacy and preserve her a nation. Kentucky has fame written upon her banners; every battlefield speaks nobly of her sons where glory is emblazoned on the bloody page of history. Will you, patriots of Kentucky, suffer your gallant brethren to be vanquicked by superior force, and not destinies of your country. Then with one accord come forward and enlist beneath the banner of the Union, and with that flag dusting over you march on to victory.
